Bradlink Receives Top 50 Professionals and Entrepreneurs Recognition from Leading Business Journal

(Houston, TX) – March 1, 2013 – Helen Callier, President of Bradlink LLC, a Technical Services firm providing Program Management, Facilities Design, IT, and Facilities Maintenance in Transit, Aviation and other public markets, received the Top 50 Professionals and Entrepreneurs Award from d-mars.com Business Journal based in Houston. The award was given out on February 28, 2013 at the H.E.S.S. Club in the Houston Galleria during d-mars first annual Black Professional and Entrepreneurs Awards Ceremony. Other business award recipients included Mr. Matthew Knowles, Music World Entertainment, James Prince, Rap-a-lot Records, and Errol Hughes, Porsche of West Houston.

“We feel it is our obligation to provide Black entrepreneurs with the proper platform that recognizes and celebrates their success. This is an excellent opportunity to give them accolades they deserve for their achievements and contributions to the community” said Mr. Dmars, President.

“We’re excited about being recognized as a Top Entrepreneur in the Houston area” says, Helen Callier, President @BradlinkLLC. “Dmars does an excellent job of reporting in the business community and we are thrilled to be included in such a grand historical event.”

Bradlink is an active force in the business community in Houston and nationally. Ms. Callier volunteers and serves as the 2013 Chair of Government Procurement Connections (GPC) Conference scheduled on March 28, 2013 at the George R. Brown Convention Center. This conference helps connect Veteran, small, woman and minority-owned businesses to large primes, Federal, State and local agency representatives. Also, Ms. Callier and key staff serve at Board and committee levels on several industry associations including the Airport Minority Advisory Council (AMAC), American Public Transportation Association (APTA), Conference of Minority Transportation Officials (COMTO), and Accessibility Professionals Association (APA).

Bradlink plans to continue its sustainable growth and achievement in the government marketplace while continuing to expand into synergistic domestic and global markets including Oil&Gas. Now in its tenth year, Bradlink is a proven niche firm in the government sector and serves as a Prime, via a Joint Venture, on the Houston Airport System’s (HAS) Program Management Team. This Joint Venture is the first of its kind at HAS and in addition to Bradlink, includes AECOM, Louis Berger and Omega Engineers.
